

Press release – 16 June 2023.

BME invites a European artist to its Art Residency Program 2024.

The Budapest University of Technology and Economics (BME) has launched its Art Residency Program of 2023/2024, in which an artist or a writer from the European Union is welcome for a one-month residency in the spring of 2024.

Each year, the Art Residency Program at the Budapest University of Technology and Economics (BME) hosts two Hungarian artists for ten months, one art student from the Budapest Metropolitan University for three months, and an artist from the European Union for one month.

Artists from any discipline (writers, musicians, visual artists, filmmakers, dancers, etc.) are invited to cooperate with one of the university's departments, laboratories, or research projects and reflect on the process by their means. Similarly to many Art & Science residencies worldwide, the BME's program encourages artists to examine the intellectual, social, and ethical aspects of scientific and technological research, thus inspiring a broader discussion of them.

The call is open to artists from the European Union (applicants must hold a citizenship in one of the EU member states), and the program is held in English.

Artists can consult researchers during their residency, have access to laboratories, and meet other resident artists at BME as well as other Hungarian and foreign artists based in or visiting Budapest. Resident artists should present their work and reflect on the period spent at BME at the end of their stay in a form corresponding to the kind of work they do (e. g. pop-up exhibition, public reading, concert, short performance).

Deadline for application: 31 July 2023.
